Welcome everyone. There are a few things you need to take care of before classes start next week. First, you must complete online registration for classes at the computer center in Reynolds Hall. International students will need to drop off a copy of their visa at the registrar's office before doing this. Once you've registered for classes, you'll be able to get your student ID card. Undergraduates can get theirs in Room 24 of Stanley Hall. Graduate students can get theirs on the second floor of Butler Hall. OK, let's talk about credit requirements now.

Welcome to Primrose Farm. If you're feeling energetic, why not join our walking tour of the farm? It takes two and a half hours and starts in 10 minutes at the lake. There'll also be a barbecue in the meadow, where you can have our organic beef for lunch. Alternatively, try your hand at milking the cows. This lasts 45 minutes and starts at the cowshed in 20 minutes. We also offer horseback rides, which set off from the stables every 30 minutes. Children must be over the age of 8 for this activity.

(J) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 28. Jacqueline's taking a nap right now. She'll probably sleep until about 2. I usually feed her around 3. There's a bottle of milk in the fridge. Just heat it in the microwave for one minute, but make sure it's not too hot before giving it to her. After that, maybe you could take her to the park. It's good for her to get some fresh air. I almost forgot, if she's not up by 2:30, please wake her or she won't sleep tonight. I should be home before 7. If you need me, my number is on the kitchen counter.

(K) You have 10 second to read the situation and Question No. 28. This is a reminder that several local organizations offer scholarships for students from Centennial who plan to go to college after graduation. The application deadlines for some—including the Jansen Scholarship for medicine and the Chandler Award for journalism—have already passed. There's still time, however, to be considered for others depending on what you'll study. These include Ferguson Trust for mathematicians, the Holcombe Grant for students pursuing careers in health fields, and the Newfield Trust, which offers a grant for future engineers. Detailed information is available at the career center.
